This is the document which is going to be used to monitor and measure the efficiency of the model we are going to produce.

This word is worthless outside the scope of this project, and yet very meaningful within the scope, so its all about the perspective through which you see the world.